

¶ We have received a very polite invitation from Genl. Combs the President of the Lexington and Danville Railroad, to be present at a dinner to be given at the Suspension Bridge, now being made at the mouth of Dix River. We would like much to be present, and if possible will be. This bridge will be the most magnificent structure, having the longest single span (1,200 feet) of any bridge in the world. The road under the vigilant management of the present active President Genl. Combs, is going ahead rapidly, and there can be no fears of its speedy and successful completion.

¶ We return our thanks to our friends of the Commonwealth for the kind wishes for our success. It is needless to say that we cheerfully reciprocate them. Through the kindness of Col. Hedges and Mr. Todd, we were all through their new office, and for convenience in all of the various branches of the business, it is unsurpassed by any office in the West. We understand that Col. Hedges intends getting a new steam power press, to facilitate his operations. Success to you, one and all, gentlemen.

¶ We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. C. HAGAN & Co.'s grand gift enterprise. We know the gentlemen, and are satisfied there is no humbug about the matter. The prizes are all bona-fide what they are represented to be.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE, for December, is upon our table, and, as usual, is beautifully illustrated, and contains a number of good articles from talented authors. The editors promise great improvements for the approaching volume, and we have no doubt that "Graham" will continue to rank among the best of literary publications. Great inducements are offered to clubs, and the proprietors promise to publish as few continuous stories as possible, in order that each number of the Magazine may hereafter be complete in itself.

¶ In our issue of the 25th inst., we noticed editorially a new agricultural paper soon to be published by Messrs. STANTON & MARSHALL, of the Mayville Express. Since that time we have received a prospectus of the paper, the title of which is to be the Kentucky Farmer. As is stated in the prospectus, "agriculture is the greatest interest of our nation, yet its science is comparatively disregarded." The publishers expect to engage as editor the services of an able and distinguished gentleman, but if they fail in obtaining such, contributions will be solicited from scientific and practical men. The first number will be issued on the first Thursday in January, and regularly thereafter, provided 1,000 subscribers are obtained. Payment for subscription invariably in advance. Single copy, $1.50; clubs of twenty, $25; clubs of forty, $40.

¶ One of the oldest citizens of Lexington, known to every body as "old King Solomon," died at that city on Thursday, the 23d inst. He was very poor—yet always maintained a reputation for unpretending simplicity of character, untiring industry, honesty of purpose, and all other qualities necessary to render him an object of universal esteem. He had nearly reached four score years, having been born in Virginia in the year 1775. Digging cellars had been his principal occupation during life; at his death, he expressed fears that his body would not be properly taken care of. He was, however, decently interred in the beautiful cemetery at Lexington; and rests by the side of those who in life, were pecuniary better off than he, but none of whom were more universally esteemed.

ACCIDENT.—This evening, about 5 o'clock, an Irishman, at work on the new railing around the Capitol, had about one-half of his foot cut entirely through by a ground chisel, in the hand of another person. He was taken to the Mansion House, where his wound was dressed by Dr. Gentry.

Who is DOESTICK?—Doesticks, whose articles, published in the Detroit Advertiser, have been copied extensively for their wit and satire, says the New York Post, is a modest young clerk in New York, whose life thus far has only spanned some twenty-three years, and he is disinclined, at present, to part with his anonymous obscurity. He has nothing to offer the publishers at present, and when he has, if ever, he thinks it will be time enough to reveal his whereabouts and whatabouts. He is not looking to literature as a profession, says no literary merit in what he has done, writes to the Detroit Advertiser to oblige a younger brother who is connected with that journal, and for no other object. He was one of the students of Michigan University who were expelled some years ago under the decree issued against secret societies in that institution. His father is a lawyer of some rank, of Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Doesticks on a Bender?—Doesticks was the first of the series that was published. It was written in a private letter to a friend, who gave it to the editor of the Peninsular Quarterly and University Magazine—a periodical published at Ann Arbor, which had a brief but creditable existence. The attention which it attracted led to the publication of others, until now, fourteen have appeared. They all contain passages of wit and humor which linger in the memory and display powers of observation from which much may yet be expected.

¶ The publishers of the Saturday Evening Post, announce a new and highly interesting prospectus for their excellent paper, for 1855. Among the contributors can be mentioned, Mrs. SOUTHWORTH, GRACE GREENWOOD, FANNY FREN and others named eminently "known to fame." They have now gone to an expense of over thirteen hundred dollars in order to secure the privilege of first publishing in the Post, the following original novelettes, "Six weeks of Courtship," "The Falls of the Wyalusing," "The Oneida Sisters" and "The Nabob's Will," with some seven or eight others. The terms are for a single paper $2.00; $5 for a club of four, $10 for a club of eight and in that proportion. Send on your names and money.

¶ A Ladies' Fair is to come off in Harrodsburg on Saturday night next. The band of music will be composed of about 26 performers, under the charge of Mr. W. A. STEVENS, of Lexington.

MADAME DE VRIES.—The Grand Operatic Concert, at Metropolitan Hall last evening was an occasion long to be remembered by the large and fashionable audience present, by whom it was received, not alone with repeated and prolonged applause, but with the far more flattering testimony to the merits of the artist, recognizable in the delight of silent listeners. The fair vocalist has won many friends in Chicago, the list of whom was increased by her brilliant triumph of last evening. It is a severe test of artistic skill to render selections from operas, before a discriminating audience, unaided by orchestra, stage dress or scenery, but Madame De Vries was superior to the disadvantage. Her voice, possessing the magic of enchantment, her style, now moving every heart by its impassioned tenderness and again conquering and captivating all by its thrilling boldness, her figure and manner commanding and queenly, it is rare that a soloist has come before the public with so many well sustained claims for continued favor. Her reception in the Hall was so many triumphs, and her performances were repeatedly encored.

Signors Morini and Pasarelli happily varied the entertainment of the evening, and prolonged the Concert was one flattering to the artists and delightful to the audience.—Chicago Journal.

The "above" is the style in which our coteries throughout the Union speak of this talented lady, and her excellent troupe of artists. We have not been regaled with a choice musical treat in Frankfort for some time, and now that the opportunity is offered, who will hesitate to seize it. (The tickets are for sale at the usual places.)

¶ A Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says, that the rule laid down by the Secretary of the Navy that officers when ordered into service must go or quit, works admirably, and adds much to the efficiency of the service; and expresses the hope that the recommendation for other improvements in the service will be carried out by the Senate, and that either the Senate or House bill introduced during the last session will become a law.

¶ On Monday last, in New York, while one of the public schools was in session in the Ringgold school-house, a boy, about ten years of age, who had been sent to a class-room on the first floor, whispered to one of the lady teachers that the room was full of smoke. She went there, and finding the report correct, informed the principal, Mr. Roberts, who, after taking the precaution of guarding the door-ways to prevent a rush, dismissed the whole seven hundred children without the slightest accident. The fire was extinguished without serious damage. The heat of the furnace had set fire to the adjoining wood-work. The discovery was most fortunate, as the class-rooms are adjacent to the stair-ways, and if the flames had obtained much headway would have cut off escape from the upper floors.

¶ The burglar proof safe, in the vault of the Canal Bank at Cleveland, upon being "burst open" was found to contain four hundred dollars in specie, laid away there for the redemption of the bills.

The Dayton Journal publishes in a letter from a friend the following recipe for scrofula. It is the discovery of Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, and has been used with success:

To one table-spoonful of aquafortis, two of strong, clear vinegar is added, and two copper cents are dropped in, which create a strong effervescence, and are left in till it ceases to sparkle. The preparation is twice a day applied to the sore with a soft rag.

THE LATEST WAY TO GET A HUSBAND.—We have heard and read of a number of ways to get married, but have never found one equal to the following. It is an admirable recipe for single blessedness, and we commend it to all ladies who are in haste to get married:

A gentleman of the bar in a neighboring country, in easy circumstances and pretty good practice, had rendered himself somewhat remarkable by his attempts in the way of matrimonial speculation. A maiden rather advanced in years, residing some miles distant in the neighborhood, hearing of this lawyer's speculating propensity, that his character was unexceptionable, and his situation in life was tolerably good, resolved upon making him her husband. She hit upon the following expedient. She pretended to be taken very ill, and sent for the man of the law to prepare her will. He attended to that purpose. By her will she devised £10,000 in bank stock to be divided among her three cousins, and a vast landed estate to a favorite nephew. The will being finished, she gave the lawyer a very liberal fee, and enjoined upon him to keep the matter secret, and to keep her real circumstances. Need I mention the result?

In a fortnight the lady thought proper to be restored to health. The lawyer called to congratulate her on her restoration—begged permission to visit her, which was politely given. After a short conversation, he desired the lawyer to prepare a will. The lawyer's whole estate by his wife consists of the annuity of sixty-five dollars.—English paper.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP BALTIC.

Late from the Seat of War—Highly Important—Several Sanginary Engagements—Immense Losses.

New York, Nov. 27, M.

The Collins steamer Baltic arrived at Sandy Hook, at 12 o'clock, on Saturday night, and reached her dock at 9 o'clock this morning.

She brings 148 passengers, amongst them the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and Doni Platt, Esq., Secretary of Legation at Paris and bearer of dispatches.

The Baltic left Liverpool at 2 o'clock, on the afternoon of the 15th.

The news of the massacre of the English light cavalry, under Lord Carpelgan, is mainly confirmed.

They charged a battery of 30 guns and lost 400. Only two hundred of those that charged returned.

Since then there has been incessant and sanguinary fighting.

The allies are almost overmatched, and the most urgent request has been sent for reinforcements.

50,000 Frenchmen are to be immediately sent, and every available steamer is taken to transport the troops—including the steamers Europa, Alps, India, New York and others.

The loss on the part of the allies was a sanguinary engagement, and on the 5th there was a terrible combat, including a sortie and general attack by Menschikoff. The battle lasted from day-break until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Both sides claim a victory.

The English took some 100 prisoners. The Russians stormed several batteries, and silenced the guns. The loss on the part of the allies was about 5,000, and on the part of Russia 8,000.

The battle was resumed by the Russians the next day, the 6th, and we do not yet know the result.

The allies were preparing to storm before the Russian recovery of the losses. A practicable breach has been effected. A Russian, with a view of complicating negotiations, notifies that she will treat directly with Austria on the four points.

Corros—Brown, Shipley & Co., report cotton unchanged, quiet and freely supplied.

Corn is quiet. There are indications of 2d on wheat and 6d on corn, and 6d on flour.

Consols closed at 91½.

Since the battle of Alma, Menschikoff has been reinforced by the commands of Gens. Chamoff, Lepoff and Koroff. The entire infantry force of the Russians at Sevastopol is 43,000, and the cavalry and artillery, which swell the number to 60,000.

The best that can be said for news on the part of the allies, is that it is of a chequered description. A succession of hard fights have been fought and victories gained, each victory costing as much as the defeat. At the same time, so closely have these affairs been drawn, that the Russians, equally with the allies, claim the advantage.

It is not admitted that the defenses of Sevastopol were underrated, the bravery of the enemy underrated, and the efforts of Menschikoff in the field altogether unexpected.

The massacre of the English cavalry, before reported, arose from a misconception of orders. Six hundred and seven cavalry rode over the field under a heavy cross fire from a battery of thirty guns, and in a quarter of an hour all were killed except 198.

The Russian army has been swollen by reinforcements from the Danube, as well as by the combined reserves of all of the southern provinces. They are animated by the presence of the Grand Dukes Michael and Nicholas. They attacked, on the 5th of November, the right of the English position before Sevastopol. The English sustained the attack with remarkable firmness and solidity, and supported it by a division of Gen. Bogner's division, which fought with admirable vigor, as well as by the troops which were nearest to the English position.

The enemy, who far outnumbered our force, least a regiment with a loss estimated at from 8,000 to 9,000. The struggle lasted the whole day. At the same time Gen. Farry was forced to repulse a sortie made by the garrison, and under his energetic command the enemy were driven back into the place with a loss of 1,000 killed and wounded. This brilliant day, which was not unpaired with the considerable loss to the allies, does the greatest honor to our arms.

The siege continues with regularity.

[The above is Comrobert's official statement to his government.]

Up to Tuesday afternoon, the 10th, no official account had been received by the English Government from Lord Raglan or Stratford Redcliffe, relative to the action of the 5th, but the advices received at Liverpool on the morning of the 5th, supply a few additional particulars.

The right wing of the English army, which was attacked by the Russians, consisted of a foot guard, and the 2d, 3d, and 4th divisions.

At Vienna, it was the opinion of a few more such victories would compel the allies to raise a siege.

Menschikoff's dispatch to Paskiewitch says, "It will be impossible for the allies to continue the siege, and I will continue to chastise their temerity."

The London Times correspondent telegraphs that the French have secured the French Government that the Russians were so weakened in the affairs of the 5th, that for ten days they would not be in a position to resist an assault on the town, and that he means to make the attempt.

The correspondent calls the allies 50,000.

A telegraphic dispatch, dated St. Petersburg, 12th, stated that Menschikoff reports to the Emperor that the Russian army, before Sevastopol, on the 5th, the garrison made two sorties—one against right flank, which was successful; resulted in the capture of one of the English batteries, the guns of which were spiked. There was a great loss on both sides.

The Russians spiked 15 guns.

Immediately afterwards the French infantry division, pursuing the retreating Russians, attempted to mount to an assault, but was thrown back with an immense loss.

It was reported at Paris that the government had received a dispatch announcing that the storming of Sevastopol commenced on the 5th under very favorable circumstances. The French also were victorious. Another dispatch confirmed that on the 4th of November the allies' batteries were on the 15 yards from the walls and that they had effected a practicable breach.

ment produced seems to have been very great. The details of the action for the next few hours you have already learned; the main features of it were a vigorous fire on the part of the British, returned by an equally obstinate from the Russian works, while the French were only doing occasional shots along part of their line, and in some places their batteries were silenced altogether. About mid-day the fleets stood in to engage the batteries at the mouth of the bay. It is said some disagreement took place between the French and British authorities, and that Admiral Ducloux gave in to the views of his colleague, whose plan was adopted. At all events, the French went in and engaged the batteries on their right. The fire of their vessels was as effective as could be expected, and in better circumstances the combined fleet might have won an easy victory. But nature interposed difficulties perfectly insurmountable.

The water in the neighborhood of the works on each side is shoal, and it is impossible for even a frigate to run in closer than from 800 to 1000 yards. At such a distance the action of shot upon stone walls is only trifling. The consequence was, that although the enemy were several times driven from their guns, of which none a few were dismounted, yet the damages done to the works which guard the entrance to Sevastopol was extremely small. The precise loss of the French we have not yet learned. The Ville de Paris engaged the Quarantine battery, and after an hour's firing the Russian guns were driven off; they, however, returned shortly afterwards and renewed the fight. About 3 o'clock they seem to have begun to open with red-hot shot. Some time after this a shell came into the Ville de Paris, and blew away a great part of her poop deck, killing and wounding a considerable number of men.

The English had come up within range of the batteries on the left shortly before 1 o'clock. The Agamemnon steamed in and engaged Fort Constantine with a great determination. The Britannia, was, I believe, towed in by the Retribution, then followed the Arethusa, Albion and London. The Sphinx, newly arrived from the Baltic, went in firing her long fore and aft guns at Port Constantine with considerable effect, for the enemy took special pains to be rid of her, and the shot which fell round her kept the sea in a constant foam. The English line of the line also stood in and fired at the batteries on the Constantine side. The practice was not bad, and the effect of their raid would have been more acceptable had they not placed themselves between the Queen and the Russians, so as to prevent that ship from engaging until she had changed her position. The British line was anchored all along the left point of the entrance, at a distance of about 900 yards. The Agamemnon poured in an incessant fire on Port Constantine, and about 3 o'clock a great explosion took place inside, which no doubt occasioned considerable damage, for the Russian fire slackened considerably for nearly half an hour. But from the distance of the vessels the shot could have little effect on the stone walls of the forts, and the British were exposed to a severe fire not only from them but from other batteries, the work of the last few months.

It appears that the enemy have constructed a sunk battery of great power between Port Constantine and the hill which lies further in. The effect of this when it opened on the British line was very great. The Agamemnon about 4 o'clock was very much about, and was obliged to haul off, and her place was taken by the Suprairel. The Albion received several shells close to the waterline, and was once or twice on fire. She is expected down here hourly to repair damages. The Arathusa experienced nearly as much damage; her hull is very much injured. She has lost four men killed and twenty wounded. At about three o'clock the Russians had opened with red-hot shot, and it was from this that the chief damage arose, as many of the ships were on fire three or four times. The sunk battery was never injured, but Port Constantine and the Quarantine Fort must have had many of their guns disabled. Raising that, there was no possibility of making any impression on the forts from the distance at which the ships were placed, and that any effect was only temporary, and consisted merely driving the Russians from their guns; it was resolved to retire, more particularly as it was growing dark, and all idea of storming the place that day had been given over on account of the unsatisfactory nature of the operations on the land side.

The following extract from a private letter dated on board of the U. S. sloop-of-war Albany, St. Thomas, Sept. 27th, says:

"I should have written to you before, but we have been in chase of the Commodore, expecting that we should cut out for the United States as soon as we found him. We found him at Samana, and received orders from him to visit this port, and then Lagayra, Curacao, and Nassy Bay. We may possibly go to the Northward this fall. Capt. Gerry keeps his own counsel, hence the officers and crew are not informed as to the future."

The Empire City, from Panama, reports that risings in various parts of Cuba were quite plentiful. It is believed to be all without foundation.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 29.

The Legislature of South Carolina assembled and organized yesterday. The Governor's message was sent in to-day. It relates mostly to the State's financial distress as being greater than at any time since '37. He opposes the creation of new banks, and thinks they are not calculated to remedy the evil. He recommends a change in the school system, and thinks that the laws relative to free persons of color, arriving by seaports might be modified, so as not to give cause of offense to foreign governments. He considers that they should observe and pursue sound and direct foreign policy, and avoid the appearance of grasping any portion of foreign territories. As regards the recent elections at the North they are indicative of great disturbance of the Councils of the nation, and he hopes that the South will discard party jealousies and stand by the Constitution.

For the instant relief and rapid cure of Asthma, Cough, Consumption, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Disorders of the Lungs and Chest.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry?

The best Remedy ever known to Man For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Consumption, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Disorders of the Lungs and Chest.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, is a chemical extract of Wild Cherry and Tar. Every body knows that Wild Cherry possesses important medicinal properties; and that Tar Water has always been administered in Consumption and Lung Affections generally, by our oldest and most celebrated physicians. Various remedies have been offered for the cure of diseases of the lungs, but of all these have yet been discovered, it is admitted by physicians, and all who have witnessed its effects, that none has proved as successful as this, for Asthma, Shortness of Breath, and similar affections, it may be pronounced a positive cure. I have cured Asthma in many cases of ten and twenty years standing, after physicians had declared the case beyond the reach of medicine.

This Balsam is made from materials which nature has placed in all northern latitudes, as an antidote for diseases caused by cold climates.

THE CHEST.

SIR ASTLEY COOPER, BART., M. D.
THE ENLIGHTENED MEDICAL PRACTITIONER.
Has left a valuable Legacy to the world in his Great Preventative of Consumption,
AND
Unfailing Cure for Pulmonary Diseases
without the use of Medicine.

Sir A. C. Bart. invented and advised the use of the
MEDICATED, FUR CHEST PROTECTOR
TO all persons of all ages and conditions, as a certain and safe shield against those fearful diseases, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and other afflictions of the Lungs, which arise from the exposed state of the chest in fashion, and the contin-ed changes of our climate.

"The Protector" is a simply a chemically prepared lined with silk and p. d. cloth, suspended from the inside covers the chest in a agreeable manner that once worn, it becomes a necessity and a comfort.

The Protector, although long in use, has recently introduced into America, is making rapid progress through the United States, the Canada, South America, and the West Indies. It has for a long time been a staple article in England and on the continent of Europe, while it has grown in many countries to the position of an article of dress. To demonstrate these facts, enquire of any English or French physician, or of the beneficial effects of wearing the Protector
without recourse to doctoring of any kind.

The cost of wearing this article is a mere trifle, and one will last many years. No one who values the health of himself or his family will be without them. The Hospitals in this country are not alone recommending them, but rapidly introducing them. Harcourt, Bradley & Co., of London and Manchester, England, were originally entrusted with the manufacture of the Protector by the eminent Dr. Cooper, and continue to manufacture according to his original instructions and therefore recommend those who would wear the Protector, to order them from these houses.

"Remember, this is a staple article, and no Patent Medicine."

AYER'S PILLS.

A new and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Fevers, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Pains,
Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pain in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female Complaints, &c., &c. Indeed, few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effective Cathartic were more freely used.
No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided
by the timely and judicious use of a new and safe remedy. This is alike true of Colds, Fevers, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the blood, and which, if not removed, will eventually destroy the system. The Pills have been found to be the most important to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown that it surpasses every thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of imposture.

Among the eminent gentlemen to whom we are allowed to refer for these facts, are—

PROF. VALENTINE MORT, the distinguished Surgeon of New York City.

DOCTOR A. A. HAYES, Practical Chemist of the Port of Boston, and Geologist for the State of Massachusetts.

ISAAC L. MOORE, M. D., an eminent Surgeon and Physician of the City of Lowell, who has long used them in his extensive practice.

H. C. SOUTHWICK, Esq., one of the first merchants in New York City.

C. A. DAVIS, M. D., Sup't and Surgeon of the United States Marine Hospital, at Chelsea, Mass.

Dr. J. C. HAYES, who would give many hundred such names, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than the certificates of these eminent public men is shown in their offices.

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are composed of vegetable drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtue only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of combination is entirely new, and is the basis of the Pills. They are offered to the public in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the use of the Pills, the system is cured, the Cherry Pectoral, by its use, only cures the cough, and the system remains in a diseased state. The Pills, by their use, cure the cough, and the system remains in a healthy state.

As it is frequently expedient that my medicine should be taken under the counsel of an attending Physician, and as he could not properly judge of remedy without knowledge of the system, I have supplied the accurate Formula by which both my Pectoral and Pills are made to the whole body of Practitioners in the United States and British American Provinces. If however they should be any one who has not received their general opinion, they will be promptly forwarded by mail to his address.

Of all the Patent Medicines that are offered, how few would be taken if their composition was known.
Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries.

The composition of my preparations is laid open to all men, and all who are content to judge on the subject, freely acknowledge their convictions of their intrinsic merits. The Cherry Pectoral was pronounced by scientific men to be a wonderful medicine before its effects were known. Many eminent Physicians have declared the same thing of my Pills, and even more emphatically, and are constantly certifying that their anticipations were more than realized by their effects upon trial.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal secret to purify the blood, and to drive it into healthy action, and remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the cause of disease. The Pills are being sent wrapped in paper, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions, see the wrapper on the Box.

THE Hydromagen is a valuable discovery for protecting the feet from damp or cold, and therefore a preventive of many Lung Diseases, without any dangerous heating. The Hydromagen is in the form of a sole, and worn inside the boot or shoe. Its medicated surface is a powerful antidote to disease.

For gentlemen it will be found agreeable, warm, and healthy, to wear in the coldest or rainiest weather, or when the feet are exposed to dampness, or when the feet are weary after a long day's work. It is also valuable in the most ancient weather with impurity;
while Consumption, so prevalent among the young of both sexes, may be prevented by its use. It is also

PROSPECTUS.

Incidents of the Mountains for the last Twenty Years.

TUNSTALL CHARLES has been engaged for some time in writing a book the title of which will be "The Incidents of the Mountains for the last 20 years," devoted to the memory of the late John C. Calhoun, a friend and patriotic gentleman, who resided at Bar-boursville, Ky., many years. The favorite of his countrymen, and in upright character, and in the region of the South. The book will contain a sketch of the distinguished individuals who have been prominent in various and varied pursuits for the last twelve years. He will also give a history of the first settlers of Kentucky, and the means resorted to, to sever the Union and the disunion of a foreign country, founded in 1776, and a proposition to purchase of the Legislature of Kentucky all the public domain belonging to it, and other miscellaneous matters. The patrons of the book will receive it at their respective Post Offices.

This production will appear some time in May next, no unforeseen accident intervening, and will have appeared to all the subscribers.

It will be acknowledged to the author, to have the money (one dollar) paid in advance, should the book be preferred to be sent by mail, and to be sent by the book. The book will be half bound and contain some 150 or 200 pages.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Citizens of the Union—
You have done me the honor as with one voice, from one end of the Union to the other, to stamp the character of my Ointment with your approbation. It is scarcely twenty years since I first introduced it into you, and already it has obtained more celebrity than any other medicine in so short a period.
